Introducing the Centre for Green Literature Studies (CGLS)

The Centre of Green Literature instituted at the Department of Hindi concentrates on Green Literature/Eco Literature of Indian and foreign languages and will make in-depth study on the various literary, philosophical aspects of the Green Literature. The particular Centre has its own relevance in the present scenario, because it aims to address major concerns of environment and it will expound the new relationship with nature. This Centre will also generate new vision among the pupils of literature and instil new world views in the minds of common man through outreach programs.

The Centre will be useful in creating enlightenment in the society regarding the degeneration of the nature and also it will prompt to establish the umbilical relation with nature. In addition to this Centre for Green Literature Studies will open up the various other aspects of the topic and gear the new academic discussions and disclose the socio-cultural relations of the society. This centre will disseminates new literary imaginative insights and reframe the society in a positive manner.
